

Within the walls of Gillard House, one will find a rowdy and caring group of amazing young women. They all have their talents as well as endearing quirks and habits. If you pay Gillard a visit, you will most likely see Priscilla rapping in the hallways with Chi, or Chi making dance videos with Priscilla while Fede is having a hard time doing Rosetta Stone. Catherine is laughing at all of this.

If you come on the weekend, you will most likely find Jieni cooking downstairs keeping Krystal company, and Angel practicing to become a Chinese pop singer. Natalia will be taking Instagram pictures with Camila as her personal photographer. You'll find Doga practicing for the NBA and Yewon having yet another spill on the track. Catherine is laughing. Courtney will be working away at her homework with Cindy eating chicken wings over her shoulder, and Jocelyn will be opening up yet another package. If you're looking for Angela, try going to Grier South, and if you're looking for Thuy Anh, she's most likely on dining hall duty.

Now, our Mexican girls fill our house with the best music usually shared by Renata while she's in the shower, and no doubt Ximena will be twerking to this music with Aliyah out in the hall, and Catherine laughing. We do know how to party. Later in the day, Amelie will most likely have missed another check-in, Rebeca will be buying tuck for the third time, and Gaby will be retracing her steps, looking for her stuff. You'll find Rachel microwaving food with her eyes glued to her favorite Chinese sitcom. Krystal is working in the basement. Laura and Izzy will more than likely be doing art. Laura usually on paper and Izzy on herself. We fear she may die early from ink poisoning. Catherine is laughing.

In the evening, Mary will have everything organized for the next 5 weeks while Aliyah will most likely be posting weird snapchat stories. Cala is probably crying about math, and Vio will be trying to teach Cala math. You'll find Ivannia "studying" in the upstairs common room along with Defne consuming her 5th cup of coffee and Zoe making inappropriate jokes and making Catherine laugh.

If you detect the delicious smell of chili and tamari, it's probably Lily eating yet another bowl of spicy noodles. Don't be startled if you meet someone with a green face mask shuffling down the hall. It's most likely just Jessica after talking with Rosa about Sephora.

And where is Kamila? She's most likely multi-tasking working on getting another perfect score on an assignment, dreaming of her perfect dress, and organizing another event. Into the deep of the night, Alice will be caught on her phone after lights out, Renan is Facetiming her boyfriend, Krystal is still working in the basement but Fausta is fast asleep, only to be up at 5AM to do her share of studying. And Catherine most likely fell asleep laughing.